Pursuant to our discussion about the vacancy created by your departure from the Editorial Board of the Studies in Intelligence, I have discussed this matter with Larry Houston, and the Director. Larry has, as you know, the longest tenure on the Board and would certainly make an excellent Chairman. The Director believes, however, that it might be more appropriate for the Chairman to be someone who is deeply involved in substantive intelligence. He also feels that the best interests of the Agency would be served by having assume this position.

I have discussed this proposal with While I think he might prefer to become a member now and Chairman later, he has agreed to "do his best" if this is the Director's wish.

May I suggest that you invite to the Board meeting this weekend, and may I also look to you to handle the details of his installation as Chairman of the Board.
